Outside View

Payette Independent: Under the caption of "For Our Fair City", last week's issue of the Ontario Democrat contained a remarkable editorial. Remarkable for several things, but particularly in that it tries to make a "scape goat" of a girl, characterized as having more conscience than experience. It seems that this girl, whoever she is, wrote an editorial in the absence of the editor. That editorial contained among other things this: "We must expect the world to measure the moral caliber of our officials by things which happen in our city, and we take it as the duty of every citizen to help protect those in authority."

Now that doesn't sound to us like the giggling of a silly little creature who knows nothing of the ways of the world, but rather it sounds like a pretty good sort of philosophy. But the worst of it all is that after the girl "with more conscience than experience" had raised the question, and the question had been settled because she raised it, the Democrat says: "The citizens who brought the matter to the attention of the prosecutor have done their duty." Our hat is off to the girl. And the Democrat could do no handsomer thing just now than to apologize to the her for apologizing to its readers for what she said in that editorial.

Dairy Factory for Parma.

Parma is to have a new dairy factory. The directors of the Parma Dairy Produce Company have decided to erect a dairy factory 30x70 feet, which will enable them to utilize home products to a greater advantage than heretofore.

Part of the machinery for the factory has already arrived. The directors expect to have everything in running order by September 1.

Maud Mueller.

Maud Mueller at the close of day Put her little rake away. She cooked the supper, set the bread And put the sleepy kids to bed. And then she made from dad's old pants A hobble skirt for daughter Nance. She darned the stockings, mended rips In clothes and sheets and pillowslips. She carried in the kindling wood, And then in silent thought she stood, Then said: "There's nothing else for me To do until tomorrow. Gee! It's great to be a farmer's wife, It's such a happy easy life. And now my idle hour to cheer, I'll pour some golden grain belt beer," advertisement.
